

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like primarily to praise and thank ALLAH, the most Gracious, the Greatest and the most Merciful, who gave me the ability to complete this work.

In particular, I would like to express my deepest gratitude and sincere thanks to my supervisor Prof. Eleri Jones for her patience, endless support, professional guidance and valuable input during this journey. Professor Jones' comments, advice and contributions are very intellectual. I would like also to thank my supervisor Dr. Dino Minoli for his valuable advice and support through this work. My thanks are also due to Professor David Botterill for his encouraging support and assistance when he was supervising me.

I would like to express my thanks and appreciation to all hoteliers of GDES and non-GDES small hotels, public and private sector's executives and Arena Network's officials who take part in this research for their time and valuable information given during the interviews with them, which has contributed effectively in building up this research.

Indeed, I would like also to thank all staff members and colleagues of the Cardiff School of Management for their cooperation, best wishes and pleasant interaction since the first day of this journey. They make it worthwhile.

Special thanks go to my country Egypt which gave me the opportunity to study in the UK by sponsoring my research and living expenses during the whole course of this thesis.

Last and by no means least, I am very indebted to my family for their continuous support. I would like especially to thank my mother, my wife, my sister for their love, unwavering support and encouragement and my beloved son Ziad who has been the source of my inspiration.
